5 Tips & Tricks for Summertime Savings

It's summertime. The kids are out of school. Things are opening up and people are vacationing again. Although everyone is excited to get back to fun activities, it's important not to get too excited and overspend. Use these financial tips and tricks to avoid financial pitfalls and even grow your savings!

- 1. Create a budget – Follow a budget that allows your family to enjoy recreational activities while leaving room for your obligations and even those back-to-school expenses on the horizon.
- 2. Cut unnecessary expenses – If you're not using them during the summer, suspend or terminate your subscriptions such as streaming channels, gym memberships, and online clothing programs.
- 3. Minimize the vacation – There are many inexpensive ways to vacation that won't require breaking the bank. Try new adventures like camping or consider traveling on weekdays instead of weekends to save.
- 4. Don't forget your bills! – It's easy to get caught up in summer fun and accidentally forget to pay a bill. Schedule your monthly payments to be made automatically through bill pay so this doesn't happen to you.
- 5. Use cash – Try allotting and using cash instead of a card for your activities. Then when it's gone, you're finished, and you didn't kill your budget!
